GEN. BRUSSIOFF SOCIAL FIGURE IN RUSSIAN LIFE

PETROGRAD, July 30. — General Alexis Brussloff, commander of the Russian army, which swept through Bukovina, was little known outside of Russia before the present war. In fact, it was not until 1914 that he was given command of an army corps. His work in the war won him promotions. He is almost the only one of the many prominent social figures in the army who has made good.

General Brussloff is 63 years old but looks more like 45. He is alert and modern. He has dark, steady, searching eyes and nose with a high, commanding curved bridge, and a square jaw. His hair is close cropped; he wears a long thin gray moustache.

It was General Brussloff who commanded an army in the first Czarist campaign when the Russians were ready to pour down into Hungary but were forced to retreat for lack of ammunition. Unlike many Russian generals, Brussloff had the advantage of an excellent education and began army life in a fashionable cavalry regiment. Ability and influence combined to make his advancement rapid. He held many positions, was recognized a favorite at court, distinguished himself as a daring rider, encouraged cavalry officers to go in for polo and cross-country steeplechases and was popular in Petrograd society. Then came the war to try out the capacity and characters of men. Brussloff was one of the studious, professional type of officer who came to the front and made good.

NO CASH FROM UTILITIES UNTIL FEBRUARY NEXT

City Treasury Then Entitled to Entire Sum Due for Year 1916

That the city and county is not entitled to receive any public utilities money this year but may be paid the entire amount coming due from the revenue of such corporations for the present calendar year, on February 1, 1917, is the gist of an opinion rendered to Charles J. McCarthy, treasurer of the territory, by Attorney-General I. M. Stainback, wherein the city and county attorney's department, by W. T. Carden, second deputy attorney, concurs without any remarks.

Copies of the opinion have been transmitted by the municipal law department to Treasurer Conkling and the supervisors' committee on finance and public expenditure.

Stainback begins by stating that the act of Congress providing for the payment of public utility fees to the counties instead of to the territories went into effect June 16, 1916, and that the statute does not purport to be retroactive. He quotes authority for the doctrine that "one of the commonest rules of statutory construction is that an act cannot be so construed—making it retroactive—unless the language of the act shall render that construction indispensable."

Referring to the language of the act, where it provides that a public utilities company affected "shall within one month after the expiration of each calendar year pay to the treasurer of the county in which such company operates such sum of the gross receipts of such preceding calendar year as its franchise now requires it to pay to the territory of Hawaii," the attorney-general says "nothing can be due to the various counties until February 1, 1917, without making the act retroactive." Comments that the law was not in effect at the expiration of the calendar year 1916, hence that nothing could then be due the counties, he clinches it with a Missouri decision that the word "shall" as used in a statute ordinarily applies only to something to take place in the future.

Taking up a hypothetical theory that the counties might be entitled only to a percentage of the receipts of the various companies after June 16, 1916—that to go beyond this date would make the act retroactive, Mr. Stainback says:

"However, I am of the opinion that the tax due February 1, 1917, is a franchise tax for the year 1917, to be measured by the amount of business done during 1916, and therefore there would be nothing retrospective in construing the statute so as to permit the counties to receive the percentage of the total gross receipts for the calendar year ending December 31, 1916."

Preceding his definite opinion "that the first payment will be due the counties under this act February 1, 1917, and it will be a percentage of the gross receipts for the calendar year ending December 31, 1916," the attorney-general points out what he deems would have been a better method of conveying public utility money to the counties by the legislature, in the following words:

"I may add that an additional reason for this liberal construction is that the 1915 territorial legislature passed certain acts showing that the legislature desired that the city and county of Honolulu should receive, as soon as Congress could be induced to act, the revenues from public utilities operating within the city. Why the legislature did not pass an act appropriating to the use of the counties the various amounts collected by the territory from public utilities instead of amending the charter of each utility and thus requiring congressional approval, I am unable to say. Such an act would have been preferable from every standpoint. It could have been made effective immediately and could have been repeated whenever desirable."

"MESSAGE FROM MARS" DEALS WITH BIG WAR; WAKEFIELD WAS THERE

"Sunny Jim" Wakefield, lawyer, habitually Pittsburgh, a booster for Honolulu though he has seen Hawaii for only a few days and one of the few American men who has succeeded in penetrating the network of guards, trenches and lines of the French and British armies, to within a short distance of the western front, will talk at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night in a special lecture to the members and their men friends. The lecture will take place in Cooke hall. Mr. Wakefield is a "stemwinder" from the flash of the gun and with a handful of stories of the different experiences he had and the narrow escapes and incidents he went through on his way back from the war zone.

He has announced that he will talk on "A Message from Mars," and says that it will not be an aerial one either. He was fortunate in being in Europe at the time of the outbreak and saw the Kaiser in Germany at the time of his return from his vacation yacht cruise, saw the inspection of the imperial fleet at Kiel and then went into Switzerland, where he watched the mobilization of the Swiss army, going from there into Paris and from Paris taking a guide and making the trip to the battle line in France. He witnessed the battle of Mons and the fighting around this region, which will be the subject of his talk at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

DIORAMAS ARE FEATURED IN MID-PACIFIC

The September number of the Mid-Pacific Magazine is out today with a sixteen page supplement describing the Dioramas. There is page after page of illustrations, especially made for this magazine, of the wonderful dioramas in the Canadian building at the San Diego exposition. In these are shown the actual buffalo, deer and wild game of Canada in the foreground of the dioramas, that for quite a distance back are built of real rock and trees and shrubbery that slide into the painted picture so skillfully and gracefully, that even the expert cannot always tell where the reality ends and the painting begins. A special supplement has been made of this section and sent broadcast about the Pacific to those whom it is expected, by interest in the 1919-1920 exposition in Honolulu.

Another interesting feature of this supplementary section, also highly illustrated, is that describing the Balboa day celebration, which had its inception in Honolulu on the 25th of last September, when the people of every Pacific country paraded in costume to the Palace grounds, where they presented their flags to Queen Liliuokalani, who on this occasion for the first time since her exile twenty-three years ago, re-entered her old palace and occupied her throne.

Other interesting articles to the Hawaiian reader are those on Folo in Hawaii, by Laurence Redington; one on Hawaii's Flower, the Hibiscus, by Alonzo Gentry; another on Following a Living Lava Flow, by L. W. de Vis-Norton; and a fascinating description of Tongan Homes, by W. T. Brigham of the Bishop Museum.

Count Terauchi, the governor-general of Korea, who may soon be premier of Japan, contributes an article on the New Chosen (Korea). Mrs. Jack London continues her "Cruise of the Snark." Frederick McCormick writes on "China's Ancient Wonders," and there are interesting articles on all of the Pacific countries.

PIONEER MILL STOCK SELLS AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Pioneer Mill Company stock sold this morning at 42 at public auction. In the office of Jas. F. Morgan 168 shares went under the hammer. The lot was a composite of the fractional shares arising from the recent capital increase and stock dividend.

When 168 shares of Pioneer was offered this morning at public auction the first bid was $40 a share. By quarters it rose to 41 and on to 42 and there stopped. The hammer fell and the bidder took the entire lot.

Monday's market sheet shows the sale of 20 and 50 shares of the stock of the company at $42.50 and the bid and asked quotation 42 1/4 @ 42 1/2, so that the purchaser secured the lot slightly under Monday's market.

Star-Bulletin Submarine Chase Paragraph Contest INSTRUCTIONS

There are two sets of ships, one submarine set and one cruiser set—each set with words in them, and these are scattered throughout the advertisements printed in today's paper.

Each set, when properly arranged, forms a complete paragraph or statement. Arrange the words to suit yourself—just so the complete paragraph makes a readable statement on the subject selected for the week.

The subject for this week is "GOOD ROADS." And Wednesday's Star-Bulletin will state how many ships were in Tuesday's paper, so you may count them and thus be sure to get them all.

YOU MAY TURN IN ONLY ONE SET OF SHIPS, the submarines, which form one statement, or the cruisers, which form another statement, but both on the same subject.

And then hand in the set of ships from which you believe you have made the best statement.

Paste the ships in the squares on the official card—in their proper order—according to your selection.

You may use five additional words for each set, of your own choosing, if you find it necessary to make more complete sense, and these words must be written by you in these spaces wherever you consider an extra word necessary.

BUT YOU MUST USE ALL THE SHIPS of one kind, and you cannot omit any. It is advisable to use as few extra words as possible—because the contestant who arranges the best paragraph with the fewest extra words, will be declared winner.

This contest covers four Tuesday's issues—and the party making the best showing for the entire four weeks will be entitled to

$50.00 IN GOLD

All answers to each Tuesday's contest must be in the office of the Star-Bulletin not later than the following Monday.

No single individual is entitled to hand in more than one paragraph each week—or four paragraphs during the entire four weeks' contest.

You must get the official card from any one of the following advertisers:
